Urges "Apple Tax"

Better packing procedures were urged by A. P. Vierheller, extension horticulturist from Maryland, in a talk given during the afternoon following the annual banquet held in the C. H. Musselman company cafeteria.

"We make or lose our money on the selling end," Vierheller pointed out. "I don't think we can be too proud of our packing, and sometimes I think someone should send each grower a sample of what he packed last fall at about this time. The main weakness of the whole set up seems to be bruising the fruit. And by this time of the year much of the fruit is in terrible shape. How we can get around it I don't

Littlestown SECOND UNION SERVICE HELD AT REDEEMER'S

The Rev. Dr. Norman S. Wolf, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, Fairfield, was the guest speaker at the second union vesper service conducted by the Littlestown Ministerium Sunday night in Redeemer's Reformed church. Dr. Wolf said: "Too many people are not aware of the meaning of life as Jesus defined it. Unless we are trapped in mortality and unless we give careful attention to the interpretation of life as Jesus has presented it, men will be living in the flesh and not in the spirit; they will be dead to God."

The service was in charge of the Rev. John C. Brumbaugh, pastor of Christ Reformed church, who after the opening hymn offered the invocation. After a second hymn, the Rev. Mr. Brumbaugh read John 6:35-40 and 52-60 as the scripture lesson after which he offered the evening prayer. During the offering, the Redeemer's choir sang, "Send out the Light" by Charles Gounod with Mrs. J. D. Baschior presiding at the organ. The Rev. David S. Kammerer pronounced the benediction.

MAKING SURVEY ON MARKETING

A research study of marketing methods for fruits and vegetables is being conducted in Adams county this week, County Agent M. T. Hartman said today. This is the first attempt to make a thorough, systematic study of marketing in this area. During the week a group of student enumerators from State college, under the direction of Dr. Wayne Lee, will interview fruit and vegetable growers to obtain information on their marketing practices.

The study is part of the research program being developed at Pennsylvania State college under the Research and Marketing Act of 1946, Hartman said. The object of this study is to find out more about how fruit and vegetable growers market their produce and how marketing practices can be improved with the view to reducing marketing costs.

Information obtained from growers in this study will be confidential. Results will be published in the form of averages, but no information will be disclosed on individual operations. The success of the study will depend on the voluntary cooperation of individual fruit and vegetable growers in making information available as to their marketing practices, the county agent said.

Groundhog Sees Shadow! B-r-r-r 6 Weeks Of Winter?

Punxsutawney, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP) —

A little animal crawled out of his hole today — and so, as the legend goes, you can crawl into one for the next six weeks. Brother groundhog saw his shadow.

Yes, throughout Pennsylvania, this little animal, known variously as the whistle-pig, woodchuck, sandhog — and just plain groundhog — emerged from his wintery underground hideaway and became enveloped in his own shadow.

The legend is that if the groundhog sees his shadow it means six more weeks of winter. Spring would have been just around the corner if the animal saw no image of himself on the ground.

It was a unanimous verdict too.

At Punxsutawney, Dr. F. A. Lorenzo, president of the Groundhog club, reported that the sun shone for one minute at 8:45 a. m. and the groundhog saw his shadow and retreated for six weeks.

Charles Hess, Hibernating Governor of the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs in Quarryville, announced that despite sabotage the groundhog saw its shadow at 9:58 1/2 a. m.

Hess said, an airplane swooped over the Quarryville observation field at some 10,000 feet and dropped a cloud of dry ice in an attempt to make an artificial snow storm. But the prophets accomplished their observations despite the "weather meddlers," Hess said.

In Philadelphia, Gertie, the Philadelphia zoo's groundhog made good in her first outing as a weather prophet. Gertie waddled from the small mammal house, looked around, blinked in the sun, and saw her shadow. Then Gertie scampered back to her nest for a six-weeks' nap.

Goodrich products for use on the farm, and witnessed the several reels of movies which were shown. Total attendance for the three nights and Saturday matinee was 4,335.

A program by members of the Adams County Senior Extension club featured the Saturday night entertainment. Myles Starner, of Aspers R. D., president of the club, acted as master of ceremonies for this program.

The first number was presented by John Horner, Gettysburg R. 1, made up in blackface, singing, "I'm Sitting on Top of the World." A novelty number, "Casey at the Bat," was presented by a group of five, with the recitation by Thomas Murten, Hanover R. 4. RE-DEDICATE CHURCH SUNDAY

The congregation of Zion Reformed church, Arendtsville, the Rev. Rev. R. Frantz pastor, rededicated its house of worship at a special service Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The congregation, led by the pastor, participated in the act of rededication.

Erection of the original building was begun in the spring of 1851 and it was dedicated on Christmas Day of the same year. On June 6, 1885, the cornerstone of the present building was laid. The original building was improved with the erection of the one-hundred-foot tower at the northwest corner of the present building and a smaller tower on the south corner. The old walls were left standing with the exception of the east wall in which an 18-foot window was placed and entrances were made in the two towers. The other windows, ceiling, and roof were made Gothic at this time.

The last service of rededication by the congregation was held in 1933, under the pastorate of the Rev. Ernest Brindle, when a renovation project costing $2,613 was completed. At this time new windows were placed, the interior redecorated, chancel and choir loft enlarged and the floor carpeted.

Acknowledgement was made during Sunday's service of the receipt of $546 in cash from the following groups of the Church school toward the expenses incident to the rededication project: Willing Workers' class taught by Mrs. Harry Raffensperger, $150; Voluntary class, Mrs. D. NEW DEFENDANT NAMED IN SUIT

N. S. Shultz, Cashtown, is named as an additional defendant in the action in trespass brought by Ellen R. Sell, McKnightstown, against E. W. M. Hartman, 149 East Middle street, according to a complaint filed late Saturday in the county prothonotary's office by Attorney Franklin R. Bigham for Hartman.

Hartman's complaint states that Shultz had parked his car near the post office in McKnightstown on March 1, 1947, that the car was "unlawfully parked in that the left front door was open at right angles with said car so that there was not a clear and unobstructed width of 15 feet on the principally traveled portion of the Lincoln highway."

As a result of the door of Shultz's car being open, according to Hartman's statement, Hartman could not pass a vehicle approaching from the opposite direction without striking the plaintiff, Ellen R. Sell, who was standing at the open door of the Shultz car.

Hartman's complaint also charges that Mrs. Sell was walking away from the door into the path of the Hartman car when Hartman's vehicle struck her. The case started when Mrs. Sell brought suit against Hartman for injuries received by her when struck by his car.

BULLETS HALT TERRORS 64-45 FOR SIXTH WIN

Gettysburg college's basketball team snapped a three-game losing streak Saturday night when it defeated Western Maryland, 64-45, Westminster. It was the sixth win for the Bullets as against four losses.

Both Harris and Wis, who became eligible the previous Saturday, are newcomers to the Bullets squad.

The Terrors came back to tie it at 8-8 with eight minutes gone. Gettysburg went ahead on two free tosses by Ogden and another by Boehner but again Western Maryland came back to lead by a point, 11-10.

Inserted into the line-up in the middle of the second half, Gaylord Jessel scored five quick tap-ins and foul before he drew five quick ejections to be banished from the game.

The officials called fouls closely as they charged Gettysburg with 25 personal and two technicals and Western Maryland with 24 personal. Three Green Terrors and two Bullets were forced out of the game on fouls.

March paced the Gettysburg scorers with 13 points on six field goals and one free loss while Gorman, Boehner and Fissel tied for runner-up honors with 11 each. Jacobson was high for the home team with 16.

Sports Roundup

New York, Feb. 2 (AP)—Mel Ott, looking about five years younger than he did at the end of the 1947 baseball season, was reviewing the Giants' prospects for a squadron of baseball writers. "I often have thought what might have happened to our club if Whitney Lockman had not been hurt," he mused. "Lockman, you know, was that flashy young outfielder who broke a leg during a spring exhibition game and couldn't play all season. He still limps but says he feels no pain and will be okay after a winter's rest."

"Lockman was playing center field and Clint Hartung left," Ott went on. "They seemed to have a line drawn somewhere in left center. Whitney would take everything over to it and Hartung was catching everything that came his way. . . . Bobby Thompson was playing second base and looking better every day at a post which, as he said, 'The only time I ever saw it was running by it.' . . . We might have been right up in the pennant race with that combination." . . . Well, Lockman busted a gam. Thompson became a darn good center fielder and Hartung, who couldn't catch flies in a big league park, turned into a pretty good pitcher. . . . What it proves, this dept. doesn't know.

OTT STUFF

Ottie also was responsible for one of the best descriptions of the week in discussing Rookie Don Mueller, whose dad played for the Pirates some 25 years ago. "Don has hit .350 or .360 in every league he has been in. Every time he hits a line drive he thinks it should be a base hit. But he plays the outfield the same way when the other fellow hits one."

MONDAY MATINEE

Rev. Gil Dodds, in setting his world indoor (11-lap track) mile record Saturday, turned in the fastest first quarter (58.4) and the fastest last quarter (61.4) of any of his mile victories. . . . Like Dodds, Bob Richards, whose 14-6 pole vault was the best indoor leap since Dutch Warmerdam went out of circulation, is a preacher. Judging by the way the winter Olympics have been going, they'll both be needed at the summer games to keep peace.

Dodds Wins Mile With New Record

New York, Feb. 2 (AP)—If Gilbert Dodds, the Boston Athletic Association's high-geared mile, continues the record-shattering pace he has cut out for himself at the age of 29, the United States may have a chance against the Swedes in the Olympic 1,500 meters this year after all.

Dodds showed 15,000 screaming fans in Madison Square Garden Saturday night that he is in for his greatest year by winning the Wana-maker mile at the Millrose games in 4:05.3, the fastest competitive time for the distance ever run by an American.

Bill Mack of Michigan State finished second with Leslie Mac Mitchell of the New York A. C. another 30 yards behind in third place. Browning Ross of Villanova, Quentin Brelsford of Ohio Wesleyan and Gerry Karver of Penn State trailed in that order.

ST. JOE'S, MULES SCORE TRIUMPHS SATURDAY NIGHT

Philadelphia, Feb. 2 (AP)—Keystone state basketball fans looked with a measure of surprise today to the St. Joseph's-Westminster game and its unmistakable indication of eastern Pennsylvania supremacy over the west.

For an off-defeated flock of St. Joseph's Hawks upended highly rated Westminster college 75 to 66 at Philadelphia's Convention hall Saturday night.

On the record, it appeared an easy conquest for the tall Titans of Westminster who had rolled up eight victories against three defeats while St. Joe had lost eight of its first 14 games.

But the result was the other way around, for it was an easy game for the Hawks, with Paul Senesky's 19 points high for the contest.

The state's top duo of Duquesne and LaSalle, each victorious in 12 to 13 starts, were idle Saturday and turned the spotlight over to Temple, Muhlenberg and Pitt.

Owls Win Again
The surging Temple Owls made it five in a row with a 51-50 victory over St. John's of New York in the other half of the Convention hall twin bill. Muhlenberg won its 19th in 12 games by outscoring Villanova 67-60 in a freescoring battle.

Pitt turned in its second victory of the season over Penn State, turning back the Nittany Lions 42 to 34. The Lions without Milt Simon were unable to cope with Dodo Canterna, Sammy David and company.

Albright won over Moravian 57-46 throwing the western division of the Middle Atlantic conference into a three-way tie. Penn scored a surprising triumph over Lafayette 51-43 and Bucknell absorbed a 51-36 defeat at the hands of Navy.

In all, 10 Pennsylvania cage teams in interstate combat split even, five winning and five losing. Other scores:

Indiana 74, Shippensburg 67; Slippery Rock 74, California 62; Ballou 66, Juniata 60; Carnegie Tech 44, Bethany 35; Penn 58, Clario 57 in overtime; Gannon 43, Buffalo State 38; Gettysburg 64, Western Maryland 45; West Chester 73, Kutztown 27; Johns Hopkins 52, Drexel 45; Bloomsburg 55, East Stroudsburg 40; Akron 67, Geneva 59, and Elizabethtown 58, Gallaudet 36.

As the wedding party was about to leave for the church, Lois collapsed. The wedding was held as scheduled but there was no bridesmaid—Lois had died ten minutes earlier.

Second Half Races On State Courts

The question of whether it is profitable to use new compounds, such as 341, rather than the standard spray program on cherries was discussed with growers holding varying opinions on the relative expense of the newer sprays.

Hear Judge Sheely

Dr. Fred Lewis, of the Arendts-ville experimental station, pointed out that the difference was the difference between 20 cents for the standard program per 100 gallon of spray and $1.65 in the case of 341. However, he pointed out, standard sprays cause a reduction of 10 to 20 percent in the crop due to dwarfing caused by the spray, "while with 341 you have no dwarfing." He suggested use of 341 for orchards where leaf spot is a major problem, "and after the spot is cleaned out go back to the standard spray materials."

"The times ahead will probably be unusually difficult," Judge W. C. Sheely told the growers. "We know in general the program that will be adopted to keep down Communism in Europe and bring peace. If that program is to be successful it will need the full cooperation of such food producers as yourselves. You have never been called upon in meeting the goal set for you and I know that you, and all Adams county farmers, will be in the forefront in the coming years, as you have in the past, in meeting the needs, not only of the nation but the world, for more and more food."

Consider Two-Day Meet

Resolutions commending Dr. Fred Lewis for his work on cherry leaf spot control and urging support and continuation of the plans to construct a new laboratory at Arendtsville were passed by the growers. Other resolutions, passed as recommended by the resolutions committee headed by John Wilson, urged all growers to continue support of the National Apple Institute and similar national fruit organizations, praised the work and assistance of County Agent M. T. Hartman and expressed thanks to the C. H. Musselman company, the program committee, the processors and school authorities for their aid during the past year.

The possibility that the annual field day of the county fruit growers may become a two-day affair was discussed at the meeting, with President Harvey Raffensperger stating that the committee has been considering the idea of a two-day session instead of the usual one.

There was no loss from apple scab in any county orchard visited by him during the past year, Dr. L. O. Weaver, of the State College extension staff told the group. While pointing out that "we can never entirely rid ourselves of scab" Weaver added that it is now possible to use milder fungicides "and use them successfully."

DELONE QUINT MEETS MAROONS HERE TUESDAY

Coach George Forney's Gettysburg high cagers will seek to extend their winning streak to seven straight here Tuesday evening when Delone Catholic high, of McSherrystown, will be their opponents.

The Maroons defeated Delone on the latter's court on January 20 by a 38-31 margin after a nip and tuck battle all the way. Tuesday's game is expected to be just as hotly contested.

The Squires have been unpredictable this season, winning over favored teams and losing to underdogs. Although the Maroons will be favored the visitors are potentially capable of scoring an upset.

Leonard, star Delone forward, has been the leading offensive star for the Squires. He tabbed 16 points against the locals at McSherrystown.

Visitors' Lineup

Coach Alex Bell is expected to use the following starting lineup: Leonard and Staub, forwards; Murren, center; Prendergast and Conrad, guards.

The javay teams will clash in the preliminary game at 7 o'clock. In their previous meeting Coach Shoemaker's lads triumphed 34-25.

Next Friday night the Maroons will open their second half South Penn league schedule by meeting Waynesboro and on Tuesday, February 10, engage Chambersburg in the biggest home game of the season.

know, but one way would be to put fewer apples in the boxes. The eastern boxes were supposed to provide an answer but we stuff them until we practically have to jump on the lid to get it on."

Another effort to secure an "apple tax" of one cent a bushel, with the money thus raised to be used for advertising of apples was urged by Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale, a member of the executive group of the State Horticultural Society.

"Washington state seems to have enough money to be able to buy quarterpage advertisements in the city papers here, in Pennsylvania, and with those advertisements Washington state is selling apples, right in our own territory. If Washington can do that, we must have some way of advertising and selling our own apples in competition. We expect to attempt to get such an act through the next session of the Legislature, but your support is needed, and needed right now," Griest said.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THAT BEST

Every once in a while we run into a book which says that it is the "best" of such and such a writer or poet, meaning selections from a great deal of that one's total product. A good idea, but that best must always remain as the judgment of the person who makes the selection.

The word best is a relative word. I recently read of a list of ten books that a critic said represented the ten worst books. A very great and famous editor noted the list and statement and said that it was incorrect in only one word, and that word was that best should replace the word worst! Thus it is that the most intelligent and alert differ greatly.

However, I am very partial to books that contain extracts from a great variety of books by one author. It gives one the opportunity to carry around with one much of the favorite author. Thus it is that we have our "Portable" this and the "Handbook" that. And, of course, there are anthologies without end. Even I would like to make up one!

I like to mark striking ideas, or passages, in all the books that I read. Then I have these copied on a few sheets of paper. Later I can get a refreshed idea of the book, merely by going over these extracts, for in nearly every book written, there is—or should be—a connected thread that leads the reader through the book.

The best of anyone's work may well be said to be the skeleton, or bones of one's total effort that holds it all together. But it is one's entire output that gives to the body its flesh and blood and life.

It is because of the best, and not the worst, that we select our friends—and tie to them, through thick and thin. And it is because of the best in books that we continue to read them. There are books in which one chapter can well be worth the cost of the entire book.

To the best in life is what we owe all our hope, our faith, and what happiness that we earn. If we aren't selective—of the very best at all times—we are apt to lose far more than we gain. It is the habit of the best choice that becomes so valuable. There is no better than the best!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Fear Thought."

A FEW LINES TO MOLOTOV
From what I hear, it seems to me
Life cannot very pleasant be
For all, except the ruling few
Who tell the people what to do.
Though Mr. Molotov may say
Harsh things about the U.S.A.,
Our way of life I'd not replace
With what the Russians have to face.

They have no right to what they earn;
No choice of books from which to learn;
No comforts for their children small;

Poor food and often none at all;
Six in a room designed for one;
By day and night they're spied upon.
And should they say they like it not,
They're taken to the wall and shot.

No, Mr. Molotov! You may Pretend you like the Russian way,
But you can have it! You are fed;
You never hungry go to bed.
You never suffer from the cold.
You wear the finest raiment sold.
The choicest meats are yours to carve,
While millions of your people starve.

Sickle and hammer! No, siree!
The Stars and Stripes, the flag for me,
The glorious banner of the free!

The severity of the winter and lack of employment must lead to privation and suffering. Although some of our citizens have been doing a good work by private acts of charity, there is need of organization and systematic relief. There being no such organization, the Young Men's Christian Association deserves credit for undertaking it, and we hope their appeal for aid will meet with prompt and generous response from our citizens.

RUSSIA FILES COMPLAINTS AGAINST U.S.

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—The United States rejected outright today Russia's protest against the visit of American warships to Italian ports.

A State Department note said that the Italian governments granted advance permission for each such visit. It said that the calls were "in strict accord with the comity of nations."

London, Feb. 2 (AP)—Russia has filed two more complaints against the United States, the Moscow radio reported today. That makes four in less than a week.

The latest protests, the broadcasts said, concern the flights of American bombers over Soviet shipping in Japanese waters and the activities of the American military mission in Iran.

The bomber flights, the radio said, infringed upon the freedom of merchant shipping, while the activities of the U. S. military mission in Iran are called threats to the Soviet frontier. The Russians want both activities stopped, the broadcast said.

To Be Rejected
The first two protests, announced last week, complained about the projected reopening of Meliha airfield in North Africa and about the presence of U. S. warships in Italian ports. The Russians said both those things were violations of the Italian peace treaty. (Washington dispatches last night said those protests would be rejected sometime this week.)

Now the Russian ministry of foreign affairs has demanded that American bombers stop flying over and inspecting Soviet shipping in the Yellow sea and the Sea of Japan, the Moscow radio said.

The protest note said the bombers circled low and sometimes dived on Russian ships and that such actions constituted "infringements upon the freedom of merchant shipping."

The broadcast, quoting a Tass dispatch, said Russia sent a note to U. S. Ambassador Walter B. Smith last Friday demanding that the necessary instructions be issued to stop the actions, which produced "legitimate resentment on the part of crews and passengers of Soviet steamers."

TWO DIE FROM STOVE FUMES

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 2 (AP)—Carbon monoxide was from an ash-choked coke stove caused the deaths of a former minor league baseball manager and a retired Muncie watch repairman with whom he lived. Coroner Eugene Elmsman said today.

The frozen bodies of Jasper E. Poore, 73, one-time manager of the Toledo Mudhens of the American Association, and Mike Kelley, 75, were found Saturday in Kelley's home. An autopsy was performed yesterday and Elmsman said both bodies showed carbon monoxide poisoning.

The coroner said both men had been ill and probably had been unable to keep the stove free of ashes. He speculated they may have failed to notice odor of smoke and gas because the house was filled with odor of a muscle-limbering oil used by Poore.

Poore once was an infielder for Houston of the Texas league and had managed Chattanooga and Atlanta in the Southern Association and Evansville in the old three-eye league as well as Toledo. He retired from baseball 20 years ago after scouting for the Philadelphia Athletics.

Homeless Families Aided By Red Cross

Philadelphia, Feb. 2 (AP)—Red Cross officials worked until dark last night to find temporary shelter for the members of 59 families left homeless by a blaze that swept through the Stonehurst apartments in suburban Upper Darby.

The blaze Saturday night was believed by firemen to have started in a drug store on the first floor of the apartment building and spread quickly to upper floors. Harold J. Locke, manager of the drug store, estimated damage to the store alone may total $100,000.

The 59 families were provided with sleeping quarters in the homes of nearby residents, with friends and relatives. An additional 23 families were able to return to their undamaged apartments in the building after the blaze.

THREE DIE IN FIRE

Jeannette, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP)—Two women and a girl suffocated today when fire swept the second floor of their Jeannette home. The victims were: Mrs. A. H. Price, her daughter, Mrs. Betty Charles, 24, and a granddaughter, Anne Scott Charles, 3. Mrs. Price's husband, who was in another section of the house was rescued. He is suffering from shock.

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—A spokesman for Senator Myers (D-Pa.) said today the Maritime Commission has indicated it probably will make available a tanker to supply the Philadelphia gas works with an emergency cargo of fuel oil. The shipment would be from Tampico, Mexico.

NEW PROPOSALS ON FOREIGN AID ARE INTRODUCED

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—Two new proposals for major changes in the European recovery program were introduced Saturday into the Congressional foreign aid debate.

One would switch the whole emphasis of the program, to give the United States administrator — and Congress — greater control over how the money is used.

The other is intended to ease the strain on this country's food supply by letting Latin America ship food to Europe in exchange for United States machinery.

"Projects Not Deficits"
Eighteen Republican senators agreed at a meeting late Friday that the program should be used to "finance projects, not deficits."

They said they favored a change which would compel the 16 Marshall plan nations to submit specific recovery projects to the U. S. administrator, who could either accept or reject them.

Senator Ball (R-Minn.), spokesman for the group, said the administrator would be directed to hold back aid that might be used for nationalization or socialization of industry—or for "expensive" social security systems which would "dead-end incentive."

As the Marshall plan stands now, the Minnesota said, the United States would merely "underwrite European trade deficits." (A trade deficit exists when a nation loses money by importing more than it exports.)

"Half Is Enough"
The present plan, he added, would give the European countries almost complete control over how the money is used.

The program developed by the 18 Republicans would give that power to the administrator, who would be responsible to Congress, rather than the State Department.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy committee said in a Lancaster, Pa., speech on Friday that "we can accomplish as much with half the sum proposed" if the administrator is authorized to control the spending of the aid money.

The plan to make European aid easier on the United States by setting up a barter system with Latin America was suggested yesterday by C. A. Barrett of Pittsburgh.

Rickenbacker Says Air Power Essential

Bethlehem, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP)—The United States will be able to remain at peace with Russia "if we can awaken Stalin and his henchmen to the realization that our chips are down and that we are ready to call the cards," says Captain Eddie Rickenbacker.

Rickenbacker, in an address at the Lehigh University commencement exercises, said that he feels war can be avoided only if this country convinces Russia that "all our air power chips are blue."

Rickenbacker also urged the establishment of funds for GI scholarships in addition to the existing government aid provided veterans.

The present program, he said yesterday, "does not reach into the realms of post-graduate work for students who have the will and mental capacity but not the financial means to continue their studies."

Father Held For Torturing Sons

Abington, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP)—Melvin MacNeill, 50, will be arraigned today on charges that he tortured his three sons by hanging them by their thumbs from the rafters of his home for refusing to admit they had played with his hunting knife. Patrolman Dennis Beatty said.

Justice of the Peace Howard J. Nice yesterday issued a warrant for MacNeill's arrest, charging him with cruelty, ill treating, abusing and afflicting unnecessarily cruel punishment on the three children.

Beatty said the three boys—Melvin, Jr., 12; Robert, 10, and Martin, eight, suffered acute soreness of their thumbs as a result of their experience.

Nice said he assigned Beatty to investigate Saturday after he had received a tip from an unidentified bus driver.

May End Emergency In Bradford Section

Bradford, Pa., Feb. 2 (P)—A state of emergency imposed here during the week-end of a fuel shortage may be removed tonight.

Mayor Hugh J. Ryan, who proclaimed the emergency, said a natural gas shortage had been alleviated by higher temperatures. In addition, a threatened strike of 400 oil workers was called off.

Although this community of 17,691 depends mostly on natural gas for heating, some 1,500 residences in the area are heated by oil.

The emergency imposed Saturday resulted in closing of stores, theaters, bars, bowling alleys, clubs, and places of entertainment using gas. Ryan said school would be permitted to open today. He added that if the warm weather continues the emergency would end at 6 p.m.

In 1945 California led all states in per capita retail sales with an average of $752 per resident.

COMMUNITY BEAUTIFICATION

Salesmen recognize the fact that neat, attractive wearing apparel contributes no minor part in successful salesmanship. Not only does the seller gain psychological stimulation from the realization that he presents a clean and prosperous appearance, but the prospective buyer gains confidence and a sense of well being from the salesman's air of prosperity.

The same principle applies in an urban or rural community. The residents either feel down-at-the-heel or progressively ambitious in proportion to the general appearance of their public and private properties. And likewise the traveler who passes along the street or highway takes away with him a somewhat general concept of the community's spirit from what he sees in its "wearing apparel"—its lawns, parks, cemeteries, school grounds, and even the walls, windows and roofs of the buildings.

There is considerable work to be done in every town, village and rural community by cooperative efforts of the citizens, work which cannot be lightly thrown onto the shoulders of public officials, else it will be carelessly performed or entirely neglected because it is not a specified part of the particular official's duties. In this category are school grounds, especially during the vacation season, churchyards, public cemeteries, community buildings, such as Grange halls, lodge buildings and other group-owned or public-owned properties.

Every citizen bears a proportionate responsibility in keeping such public and semi-public property in an attractive state of repair. And too, each citizen gains intrinsically through added worth of his private property when these public places are neat and tidy. Usually such tasks are found in rural communities because villages and towns operate under more extensive ordinances defining individual and public duties in these matters.

No greater badge of community ingratitude is found than a weed-infested, decadent rural cemetery, yet the exception is a well cared-for country burying place. We have seen cooperation in action to remove these scars and it is always quite astonishing to realize how little the individual citizen must contribute to provide a beautiful grass-covered, orderly resting place for those who once lived and labored and helped build the local community. In almost every instance the idea to improve the rural cemetery has burned in one citizen's mind. Then he has talked it over with a neighbor. The two have talked to others. Soon a community meeting was arranged. The remainder of the story is then told in cooperative action.

Most states provide for care of highway berms and a few include certain general beautification practices back to the abutting property line. But it is only when neighbors join in concerted planning and performance that the highways of a rural community take on the neatness and prosperous-looking trimness which are so impressive in a few farming sections of the United States. And invariably where farmers drew their property "fronts" by concerted action, land and property values are considerably higher than in run-down communities. And too, the spirit of enterprise burns with a brighter glow.

All of these and other community tasks are matters to be discussed and planned during the next month or two. For spring brings the time to put such plans into visible operation.

NEED FREEDOM GARDENS NOW TO BOOST FOOD

Twenty million freedom gardens is the goal set by the government to help receive the world food shortage and put a stop to the rise of food prices at home. If this objective is to be reached twice as many vegetable gardens as last year are needed and they must be good ones, says Alfred L. Putz in the New York Herald Tribune.

A good beginning is requisite for success. That calls for a planting plan which makes full use of the area selected and includes succession crops to replace those that have been harvested.

The next most important question is what to start indoors and when. In this connection, keep in mind that wherever tender crops are started the night temperature should not drop below 55 degrees.

First let us consider these tender crops, such as tomatoes, peppers, and eggplants, because they are the first ones to be started. Sow peppers and eggplants in mid-February so that they will be ready for setting into the garden about May 25, which is the right time in the vicinity of New York. These require from eight to ten weeks to grow into sturdy seedlings. Tomatoes require from six to eight weeks, and may therefore be sown indoors early in March.

The best germination temperature for these three is between 75 and 85 degrees. When the seedlings are two or three weeks old they should be transplanted to shallow boxes where they stand not less than two inches apart. After another two or three weeks they may be potted up individually.

The best temperature for eggplant seedlings is 65 degrees at night and 80 during the day. Peppers and tomatoes are satisfied with 5 to 10 degrees less.

Cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts and kohlrabi all need from four to six weeks to make strong seedlings. As they can be planted out about mid-April in the vicinity of New York, sowings during the early part of March will be right. The best night temperature for these seedlings is between 45 and 50 degrees and the day temperature may run up to 75 degrees.

They should be transplanted to shallow boxes when about two weeks old. As they increase in size they must be hardened by being subjected gradually to lower temperatures so that they will not be shocked too severely when finally placed outdoors.

Lettuce and beets also may be started indoors. Sowing made about March 10 will permit transplanting to the garden at the same time as cabbage. After they have germinated, keep them cool—40 to 45 degrees at night and 10 degrees warmer during the day.

Celery is a little more difficult for the home gardener. Start the seed March 1 and transplant four weeks later. The seeds usually require two weeks to come up. Let them have 60 degrees at night and 70 degrees during the day. They should be ready for setting out about May 15.

By far the best way to start these seeds indoors is in sphagnum moss or expanded mica pellets. If sown very thinly, they may be kept in the moss for an exceptionally long time, even up to planting out time. If carefully fed with liquid plant food, they will be almost as large as those transplanted into soil-filled boxes.

TWO HANOVER MEN SENT TO STATE PRISON

(Reprinted from Saturday's late edition)

Paul Jacoby, Jr., Hanover, who was caught while attempting to open a safe in Bittinger's store at Green Springs, was sentenced to serve two to four years in Eastern penitentiary in Adams county court this morning. He was also directed to pay a fine of $5 and costs of the case.

Jesse K. Hess, Hanover R. 4, who was apprehended with Jacoby was sentenced to serve from one and one-half to three years in the Eastern penitentiary and also directed to pay a $5 fine and the costs. Hess told the court that he had been wounded several times in action during the two and one-half years he served overseas during World War II. He stated his one desire is to go back to the army where he said he thought he could behave himself. The court reminded him the army probably would not want him any more due to his record and then imposed sentence.

Merle Kime Sentenced

Merle Kime, Gettysburg R. 4, was sentenced to 14 months in the county jail and directed to pay the costs on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The court said it would consider the possibility of a parole at the end of 60 days. On a surety of the peace charge he was directed to post a bond for $500.

The father of the 17-year-old high school girl involved in the case, appeared before the court to state that Kime had been visiting his daughter and that when the father learned that Kime was a married man separated from his wife and family, he refused Kime permission to visit his daughter. The father said that Kime then drove past the house "at all hours of the night, honking his horn on various occasions, and lurked about the property in an attempt to see the girl." The father said he took the girl out of school and the teachers brought complaints concerning her absences. He said his daughter did not come home Friday night and that he had learned that Kime had "taken her from school to Bolling Springs where she is staying today."

Kime said he took the girl there at her request because she said "she feared she would get a beating" if she went home to her father.

Placed on Probation

The court, before imposing sentence, told Kime "we know something of the efforts the parents are making to keep this girl straight and certainly you should not have interfered with those efforts. Your interest is not entirely pure."

Clyde A. Miller, Gettysburg R. 3, charged with failure to reveal his identity after an accident with a motorcycle in Gettysburg, was given a suspended sentence, directed to pay $50 to the use of the county and ordered to pay the costs of the prosecution. He was placed on probation for 60 days during which time he must make the payments.

Williams Jailed

William Williams, South Washington street, who was found guilty this week of pointing a deadly weapon and aggravated assault and battery, was sentenced to serve from four to 16 months in the county jail and ordered to pay the costs. The court told him that there was ample evidence of his being guilty of the charges but that there was no doubt he was drunk at the time and that he had some provocation, but the use of a gun in the manner in which he used it was bad business.

William R. Harman, Gardners R. 1, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay a fine of $25 and costs on a charge of drunken driving.

Raymond Williams, Weed alley, was sentenced to six months in jail and directed to pay the costs on a serious charge.

Mrs. Wayne E. Black, Gettysburg R. 3, was given an indeterminate sentence in the Pennsylvania Industrial School for Women at Muncy on a serious charge and is to remain there, the court told her, until "you get yourself straightened out."

Rebuke from Court

An upper countian drew a rebuke from the court for circulating a petition in behalf of one of the defendants appearing before the court this morning. Luther Sillik was called before the bar after the court had sentenced Robert Crum, Biglerville R. D., charged with operating a motor vehicle during a period of suspension. Crum was sentenced to jail for six months and directed to pay $50 for use of the Commonwealth. The jail sentence was then suspended with the court stating that Crum would have to serve the jail term the first time he drives a car.

Sillik had circulated a petition, the court said, and secured 117 signers stating that Crum has an excellent reputation and the court held that such petitions are of no value to the court, and said that the people who signed it did not have a true knowledge of the situation. He then had State Policeman George J. Evanko read a portion of the record against Crum showing a number of previous times in which he allegedly drove while under the suspension.

Clifford Chapman, Orrtanna R. D., was sentenced to 18 months in jail on each charge of malicious mischief to property and aggravated assault and battery. The court then said that as soon as Chapman can be admitted to a veterans' hospital he will be paroled to the hospital.

Wirth Gets 6 Months

France Wirth, Flora Dale, who was found guilty by a county jury this week of aggravated assault and battery in connection with the shooting of Joseph Meneavage, was sentenced to from six to 12 months in the county jail, with the term to begin October 17, the date he was jailed. He was also directed to pay the costs.

Alfred Sites, South Mountain, was directed to pay $100 for the use of the county, to pay $5 a week in support of his child until it reaches the age of 16 and to pay the hospital and doctor's costs and then was placed on probation for one year. He had been charged with a serious offense.

Albert H. Slesser, Gettysburg R. 5, who was sentenced to four months in jail and fined $100 in November for drunken driving was placed on parole for one year because of his health and was directed to "behave" himself.

Raymond Plank, Gettysburg R. 3, was given a suspended sentence on a failure to reveal identity charge and was directed to pay $100 to the use of the county and pay the costs.

Gets 30 Days

Eugene S. Heller, Aspers R. 1, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and directed to pay $25 to the use of the county and the costs on a drunken driving charge.

John H. M. Colter, Biglerville R. 1, was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation for six months on a hit and run charge. He was directed to pay $100 to the use of the county and the costs.

Dan Martz, Gettysburg R. 3, scheduled to appear for sentence today on a hit and run charge, was unable to appear because of illness. His recognizance was forfeited by the court to be returned if he ap-

PRO-ZIONIST PAPER BOMBED $800,000 LOSS

Jerusalem, Feb. 2 (P)—Police said today they were still unable to fix the blame for a bomb blast which wrecked the Palestine Post last night, injured at least 20 persons and touched off an $800,000 fire. One Arab source said Arabs did it. Other informants blamed Jewish extremists, who have threatened the pro-Zionist, English-language daily newspaper because of its moderate stand on Jewish defense.

Still other sources blamed Britons known for their anti-Jewish sentiments.

Down-town Jerusalem, Zion Square and Ben Yehuda street were littered with broken glass from windows shattered as far as 1,000 yards from the site of the blast.

Magen David clinic, across from the Post building—itsself badly damaged by the explosion—reported it had 11 injured, two critically. Other hospitals reported a total of eight or nine from the paper. Dozens of other persons walked around with bandages.

There was no official confirmation to reports that a woman living in the Post building was killed in the blast.

The paper put out a single sheet two-page edition today. Ted Larie, New York-born assistant editor, said that would continue until further notice.

The blast, which occurred just before midnight, caused a fire which threatened to engulf an entire city block.

John Adler, business manager of the Post, estimated the blaze caused a loss of about $900,000.

Earlier, Jews bombed two Arab-owned houses in Jerusalem, which they said Arabs were using as sniper nests. An explosion also wrecked a Jewish-owned house in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area.

During the night, Arabs launched an attack against the old city of Jerusalem where 1,700 Jews are virtually cut off from aid. The attackers were said to have used mortars and machine guns, but no casualties were reported.

Hold 280 Jews

The British navy intercepted a schooner yesterday carrying 280 Jews seeking to enter Palestine without immigration papers.

The refugees, from central Europe, were sent to detention camps on Cyprus. There were 89 women and 12 children aboard.

An authoritative British source in London said yesterday that there were increased attempts to "infiltrate" into Palestine.

Raymond Mummert, Seven Valleys, who pleaded nolle contendere to three charges of fraudulent conversion was placed on probation for two years, directed to pay $100 to the county, told to pay the costs and behave generally, and told that if he becomes involved with the law again he will be brought back and sentenced on the three charges.

Mummert, according to testimony given in court this morning, took three loads of wheat to Baltimore for Raymond Lillich, sold the wheat, had the checks issued to him and then, according to Lillich "always had some excuse for not paying when I asked about it." Mummert, who said he used the money from Lillich's wheat to buy a new truck, said he had sold a milk route and turned over to the district attorney the money from that sale which he said was the amount of the checks he had received from Lillich's wheat.

trate Communist agents" into Palestine.

He said many agents had been found among the 13,000 Jewish immigrants aboard the ships Pan Crescent and Pan York which surrendered to the British navy in the Mediterranean last December.

(In Milwaukee, Moshe Shertok, political chief of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, described the report as "fantastically and maliciously untrue.")

Postwar governmental demands for petroleum products are several times greater than pre-war.

The total value of real estate in New York city is estimated at $16,900,000,000.

MAKE PEACE BIG ISSUE IN INDIA FUTURE

New Delhi, Feb. 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru told the Indian Constituent Assembly today that he accepted the restoration of peace in the troubled land as an issue on which his government would stand or fall.

"If we don't do that we are not worth being in this government; certainly not of being his (Mohandas K. Gandhi's) followers or even saying words of praise for this great soul," Nehru said.

"I have a sense of utter shame as an individual and as the head of the government that we should have failed to protect the greatest treasure we possess."

Hunt Assassin Gang On the banks of the Jumna, meanwhile, the ashes of the assassinated Gandhi were reverently collected and prepared for scattering on waters sacred to orthodox Hindus.

Officials of the Indian union hunted for a gang accused of plotting to send three high officials of the dominion to their deaths with Gandhi. Hindu was set against Hindu by word of the conspiracy both laid to those of his own faith. Unofficial estimates were that at least 50 had been slain in rioting since the pistol killing of the 78-year-old patriot Friday night.

Home Minister Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel told correspondents last night that he, Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and Education Minister Maulana Abul Kalam Azad had been marked for murder by a group decrying leniency toward Muslims.

The Mahatma's ashes were gathered up this morning in reverent funeral rites in the burning ground by the river Jumna here where he was cremated Saturday.

Leaders of the ceremony said all ashes and unburned bones would be taken later to Birha house, where Gandhi died, and kept there in pots to be scattered February 13 in the Ganges. Both the Ganges and the Jumna are holy to Hindus.

50 Dead in Bombay

Mobs formed in this city today when reports of the assassination plot spread. Rifle fire was heard.

Trouble was reported over the week-end from Bombay and Madras province far to the south. Mobs attacked members of the militant Hindu Mahasabha (great Hindu organization). Gandhi's accused assassin was reported by police to belong to the party. In Bombay province, some 50 were estimated unofficially to have been killed and 200 wounded.

Sentence Japs For Mistreating Yanks

Tokyo, Feb. 2 (AP)—Three Japanese and three Formosans drew prison sentences totaling 51 years today on charges of mistreating Maj. Arthur Wermuth, the "one-man army of Bataan," and two other American war prisoners.

The defendants were convicted of abusing Wermuth, T. Sgt. Martin M. Kalich, Uniontown, Pa., and T. Sgt. Jack H. Bell, Lakewood, Ohio, at an internment camp in the Philippines. Wermuth now lives in Wichita, Kas.

Japanese Lt. Hitoshi Okamoto was sentenced to 25 years. The five other defendants received terms ranging from 1 1/2 to 12 years.

The Volga river is icebound for an average of 112 days out of each year.

DEATH BY THE CLOCK

By John Roeburt

Chapter 15

A palace guard of D.A.'s-in-the-bud sheltered District Attorney Rawlings from any small contact with the public he served. These natty-tailored clean-smelling young Cardozos symbolized the refinement that had come to roost in the businesslike offices of the Public Prosecutor, New York County. The erstwhile gimme and side-of-mouth mutilation of Blackstone was hardly remembered Manhattan. Every under-D.A. was a James Montgomery Flagg pencil drawing of manly manhood, conscripted from the safe and sane hinterland to mind the manners and morals of the loot-lusting New Yorkers. The end results were a triumph of jurisprudence, with nobody left-decimated, everybody habeas-corpus-ed, and evil-doers as premeditated as MacBeth. According to color graphs glued on subway train windows, an unprecedented ninety-eight per cent conviction record covering all major crimes meant a cash savings of twenty-five cents per capita per annum, regardless of race, color, or creed.

A whiff and a sniff over the threshold of the inner sanctum and a clean-smelling youth challenged Jigger.

"Yes?" A pencil was poised, waiting.

There was a click-click proficiency in the stiff-necked youth that begged the malice of the hooligan and practical joker. Jigger sublimed the urge to squirt ink, scissor the formal back-knitted tie at the knot, devil the measured diction into a profane outburst. He compromised for leg-pulling.

"I'm Tomas Tomasulio I peddle bananas. All the time my head hurts and I do foolish things. Today my head hurt and I kill wife, mother-in-law, and two bimbos. You bring me to District Attorney—yes?"

There was a vast disbelief in the youth's face. He eyed Jigger appraisingly. Jigger corded his brow in the screen stereotype of the Italian fruit peddler. Jigger was a black Irishman with a face indistinguishably Mediterranean, Anglo-Saxon, Latin, Celtic; a baffling subject for an Aryan anthropologist.

The youth looked baffled and then went off briskly. He came back in sixty seconds flat.

"Follow me, please."

Jigger brought up the rear, following through a door bearing the simple legend: William Rawlings.

Inside, Rawlings was bent over his desk. The youth called out deferentially, "Mr. Tomasulio, Chief."

Rawlings looked up and his composure pift in a twinkling. Waves of anger flung themselves across the well-laid out Rawlings face.

"You may go, Jeffers."

Jeffers went out.

"What's the idea, Jigger?"

"Just a gag."

"It isn't funny."

"Okay. So I'm a lousy humorist. Anything you wanted to see me."

Now suddenly good-humored. "Jigger, you're a character. I'd be curious about finding out what makes you tick—if I had more time. Exactly what's your interest in the Blaine Fowler case, Jigger?"

"Do I have one?"

Rawlings allowed a faint irritation to show itself then, turned away and looked out the window. Silence.

GANDHI SPIRIT MAY CONTINUE TO HOLD POWER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The frail body of Mahatma Gandhi has been consumed in the white flames of the burning-ghat beside the sacred Jumna river, in an awesome but impressively beautiful ceremony which one must see to understand.

The Mahatma's body is gone—murdered by one who made the sa-lam of goodwill even as he fired the traitorous shots. But the spirit of this world-figure, whose last act as he sank dying to the ground was to give the sign of forgiveness to his assassin, still lives within the hearts of the host who worshipped him.

These circumstances present the Indian sub-continent, housing close to a fifth of the world's population, with a problem which is both momentous and unique. It is this:

Can the spirit of Gandhi, the martyr, continue to exercise the same influence over the country's inflammable millions as he has exercised in life? Can Gandhi, dead, still hold in leash the bitter, primitive hatreds which could plunge the Indian peninsula into the horror of a fratricidal strife such as the world never before has seen?

More Than Academic Query Now that's not just an academic query. The question of whether Gandhi alive is one of the gravest of our troubled globe. And it's one nobody can answer at the moment. Only time can tell, and pending its answer the anxiety must continue.

Gandhi's assassination has emphasized a complication in the Indian situation. We no longer are concerned merely with the communal warfare between the Hindus and the Moslems. There's a dangerous split among the Hindus, and they total about three-quarters of the sub-continent's population.

The police of New Delhi, capital of the dominion of Hindu India where Gandhi was slain, have held Narayan Vinayak Godse as the Mahatma's assassin. The authorities also have identified the accused as a member of the politico-religious Hindu organization known as the Mahasabha. This is a militant body which would change India into a religious state and revive the ancient Hindu laws and practices. It advocates India for the Hindus, and has been charged by government officials with increasing communal hatreds by means of anti-Muslim propaganda.

Peace Depends On It Well, of course, all that is utterly opposed to the code of Gandhi and his followers, including such leaders as Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, prime minister of the Dominion of India. The Mahasabha, while powerful, is a minority organization.

One thing alone stands out clearly: Peace depends on whether the spirit of Gandhi the martyr is as powerful as was Gandhi alive. Perhaps it will be even more potent. In any event it is in the hearts of leaders like Nehru, who was a faithful disciple of the Mahatma.

Take Food To Island Hermit

Rye, N. Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—The bearded hermit of Hen Island and his dog had a well-stocked houseboat later today after living for several days on snow water and crackers.

Four men, hauling 50 pounds of provisions on sled, trudged a half-mile over the ice of Long Island Sound yesterday to the lonely retreat of 85-year-old Carl Wacks.

Overjoyed, he seized a chicken and started a fracassee.

Wacks, marooned on his houseboat since before Thanksgiving, told the relief party he has been too weak recently to make the trip to shore for provisions.

The four men had been worried over Wacks, who says he went to the island to live 26 years ago when a doctor told him to "take things easy."

Rescue Fishermen Trapped On Ice Floe

Angola, N. Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—Three fishermen were picked off a Lake Erie ice floe by a helicopter Sunday after 21 hours on the lake in temperatures estimated down to 15 below zero.

William Stevenson, Jr., 71, Miles Reynolds, 35, and George Kellner, 39, suffered only fatigue.

Newspaper flares led to their discovery. It was the first such helicopter maneuver in darkness in four years of ice rescues. Floyd Carlson of the Bell Aircraft Corp., Buffalo, piloted the craft.

The three men were equipped with heavy wooden sleds, canvas wind breaks and two charcoal stoves. They burned the sleds to stay warm after the charcoal was used.

The floe was a mile wide and apparently extended to the Canadian shore, 23 miles away. The open water was a mile and a half wide.

YOUTH ESCAPES BLAZING HOME

Souderton, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP)—Twenty-three-year-old Frank Benesik escaped his mother's burning home today by crashing through a window and dropping 12 feet into the snow.

Then, with a fractured ankle, and bleeding cuts, Benesik ran barefooted, clad only in night clothes, a half mile through the snow to the home of his nearest neighbors.

When firemen arrived the one-story bungalow was completely destroyed. Benesik was rushed to Elm Terrace hospital in nearby Lansdale where his condition was reported serious from exposure and loss of blood.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 2 (AP)—Investigation into the death of Second Lt. Gerald Francis Ficus, 30, Kane, Pa., continued today at nearby Randolph Field. Ficus was killed Saturday while trying to land his training plane. The craft scraped the ground, ripping off one wing. Officers said Ficus' death was attributed to "respiratory failure due to a brain injury."

Baltimore Man Is Found Dead

Baltimore, Feb. 2 (AP)—Claude M.

Gray, president of the Baltimore Transit company, was found dead in the gas-filled kitchen of his apartment yesterday, with two bullet wounds in his chest.

Police said his head was in the oven of the gas range, which had one jet open and unit. A high-powered 22 calibre rifle was on the kitchen table.

Gray's widow, who found the body, said the 52-year-old head of the transit system had been worrying about business affairs. Business associates said he had been in "low spirit," because of a series of Public Service Commission hearings into the operations of the utility.

Many complaints followed substitution of bus routes for some of the utility's trolley lines and other complaints about service in general had been forwarded to the PSC.

TODAY and TOMORROW

OBSERVER SAYS FAMOUS GANDHI FINISHED TASK

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

With the great Gandhi dead at the hand of an assassin, observers are anxiously seeking the significance of this shocking event not only to the Indian peninsula's four hundred millions but to the world at large—for what affects that vast sub-continent in a major way, must also affect other nations.

Our first thought, of course, is that the Mahatma's murder has created a terrible threat to the already troubled peace of his country, for it comes at a moment when politico-religious feelings are running high.

It could cause a mighty explosion and precipitate the most terrible fratricidal conflict of history.

The fact that it was one of Gandhi's own people—a Hindu—who slew him may serve to keep passions in hand—but unhappily that doesn't necessarily follow, as witness the killing which already has taken place in Bombay.

Harsh Bitterness

Bitterness is strong between the Hindus and the Moslems in many areas, and each side is quick to charge misfortunes against the other. So while hoping for the best, we mustn't dismiss the possibility of more bloodshed.

Still the fact that Gandhi died, as he would have wished to die, while at prayer, will have a strong influence on his followers, and apropos of this thought British Prime Minister Attlee says:

"I am certain his spirit will continue to animate his fellow countrymen and will plead for peace and concord."

That would seem to be a fair appraisal. Our chief concern is whether the grief of his people may overwhelm them in its first fierce rush and cause them to violate the peace to which he devoted his life.

So much for the dangerous present. But what of the future? It is difficult to analyze the position dispassionately, for our troubled world could ill afford to lose this great and saintly man. However, taking it by and large, the 78 year old Gandhi had performed the task which fate had assigned him. That was truly heroic, for it included these achievements:

Final Contributions

1. His great social labors among his people in South Africa—a work so notable that it evoked tribute from none other than Tolstoy himself.

2. The foremost part in the winning of independence for India.

3. The moral and spiritual rehabilitation of untold millions of Indians.

4. Living what he taught (and he told me that the greatest inspiration of his life came from Christ's sermon on the mount) he did much to better the condition of the world's most tragic people—India's 60,000,000 untouchables. These are folk so lowly that their plight in many ways is worse than that of the gaunt native dogs from which they take the name of Pariah—worse because they live longer and suffer mental tortures.

And so perhaps, hard though it is to say, the Mahatma's martyrdom may be the greatest final contribution which he could make to the world, for it will immortalize his deeds and teachings.

READY TO SLASH MARSHALL PLAN

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—Congress appears to be getting ready today to chop an $800,000,000 chunk off the starting cost of the Marshall plan. A fight to cut even deeper is possible.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee said administration figures have convinced him there is no need to appropriate the full $6,800,000,000 asked by President Truman. That is the amount sought to operate the European recovery program the 15 months beginning April 1.

Bridges cited testimony by state department officials before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week that about $800,000,000 of the total would go for goods which won't be shipped to Europe until after July 1, 1949.

"We might consider giving them some contract authority," Bridges told a reporter, "But I don't see any reason for appropriating that money now if the goods aren't going to be

Six Coal Miners Die Over Week-End

Mt. Carmel, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP)—Benjamin Watkins, 55, of Mt. Carmel, died in the Alaska colliery of the Philadelphia and Reading Co. company of an undetermined cause.

He was one of six anthracite miners who died over the week-end. Two were killed in an underground gas explosion at the Philadelphia and Reading's Maple Hill colliery. A fourth P. & R. miner was crushed to death in a rockfall at the Oak Hill colliery.

Two Glen Alden coal company employees were killed—one at the Empire colliery and the other at the Buttonwood colliery.

shipped until 17 months from now." There were indications that Bridges' view is shared by some Republican members of the House Appropriations Committee, where the cutting axe will fall first. Still other members of Congress have made it clear they want much deeper economy.

The average number of persons per U. S. dwelling unit declined from 4.7 in 1900 to 3.8 in 1940.

NORWAY TOPS SWEDEN WITH SKATE RECORD

By TED SMITS

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Feb. 2 (AP)—Norway swept in front of Sweden today in unofficial Olympic winter games standings when Sverre Farstad won the 1,500 meter (metric mile) speed skating championship in record-shattering time of two minutes, 17.6 seconds.

The United States, expecting to rally in this event, picked up only one point when Johnny Werker of Minneapolis finished sixth in 2:20.2. Americans were completely out of the picture in the downhill skiing competition, the other main event on the morning program.

In duplicating the victories team-mates Reidar Liaklev and Finn Helgesen scored in the 5,000-meter (3 1/4 miles) and 500 meter (1/3 mile) tests, Farstad clipped almost two seconds off the Olympic record 2:19.2 set by Norway's Charles Mathisen in 1936.

Hockey Goes On

Another Norwegian, railway employee Odd Lundberg, also bettered the record in 2:18.9 to finish behind Ake Seyfarth of Sweden, whose mark-breaking 2:18.1 gave him the runner-up position.

This put Norway temporarily on top of the unofficial standings with 44 1/2 points to Sweden's 39.

Ice hockey, which has been stripped from the official program by the International Olympic committee after a bitter controversy over the U. S. entry, continued its unofficial course.

Sweden won its first hockey game by defeating Austria, 7-1. It was Austria's fourth straight setback.

With sixth place in the downhill ski event still to be determined the nations stood in this order through the morning events:

Norway, 44 1/2; Sweden, 39; Switzerland, 25; Finland, 24; United States, 15 1/2; France, 10; Austria, 7; Belgium, 3; Holland, 3; Britain, 2; Italy, 1; Canada, 1/2.

The opening phase of the men's figure skating championship heads the fourth day program. The men will stage the difficult compulsory figures with the more crowd pleasing free skating events not scheduled until Wednesday.

Dick Button of Englewood N. J., recent winner of the men's world figure skating championship at Prague, is the United States' chief threat for the Olympic crown.

CALL BRICKER "DARK HORSE"

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—Senator Bricker of Ohio moved back into a Republican derelict role today.

Reports are that if backers of Senator Taft fail to win the GOP presidential nomination for their man Bricker will be their second choice.

As the vice presidential nominee in 1944, Bricker has a wide acquaintance with party members. And if a recent demonstration for him at the GOP National committee meeting here means anything, he is popular with organization Republicans who have a loud voice in national conventions.

Bricker has stepped aside this year in favor of Taft; just as Taft got out of his Ohio
